A Line o' Cheer Fach Day o' the Year By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.

First printing of an original poem, written daily for The Washington Herald.

THE UNCONQUERABLE.

An enemy on hatred waxes strong And scorn doth but entrench him in his wron But the forgiving smile and outstretched hand, Despite his steel, he never can withstand, the hosts of wrath that forward press Will fall before a front of friendliness. (Copyright, 1916.)

A "Practical" Plan With Mexico.

American troops are in Mexico on behalf of establishing a stable government there in Mexico's interest as well as in the interest of our own protection. They have been Carranza's allies, and he has known it all along. They will continue to be his allies until he forces them again to be otherwise. They cannot be withdrawn, nor can the present extended military patrol of the border be given up, with any safety to ourselves, until Carranza has put a demonstrated reality into his pretended government in northern Mexico.—New York World.

There seems to be a belief on the part of municipal ownership advocates that Washington is a good place to "try out" their ideas. Those who favor prohibition likewise believe Washington is an ideal place for a "try-out." But the majority of the people of Washington seem adverse to having the District transformed into a sort of experimental city for the benefit of the nation.
